

PLAN FOR PROBE

Preliminary Arrangements Made By Commission

HOLD INITIAL MEETING

Members Appointed by President For Investigation of Coal Industry Hold First Meeting and Establish Headquarters

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Preliminary arrangements for the investigation of wages and prices in the bituminous coal industry as provided in the coal strike settlement were made at the initial meeting today of the commission of three appointed by President Wilson.

The members of the commission—Henry M. Robinson, of Pasadena, California, representing the public, Rembrandt Peale for the Operators and John P. White for the Miners—established headquarters in the department of labor building.

The commissioners said the plan for procedure in the task outlined by President Wilson had not been fully worked out. They refused to discuss the questions of whether they would hold the hearings or whether they would visit the coal fields in conducting their inquiry.

While the commission was preparing to take up the dominant questions of the strike, Director General of Railroads Hines who has had charge of coal rationing, modified the last of the restrictions put into effect during the strike—that prohibiting exportation of bituminous coal.

The director general issued an order under which the overseas movement of coal up to an amount equal to fifty per cent of the quantity exported in October may be shipped from the ports of Baltimore and Newport News. Similar arrangements are to be placed in effect at other ports as the necessary details can be worked out.

Relaxation of restrictions against exportation was possible, Mr. Hines said, thru steadily increased production from the return of the miners to their jobs. The situation in the eastern fields was described as especially good. The first meeting of the president's coal commission was held in the cabinet room of the executive offices and was attended by Secretary of Labor Wilson and Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the president.

Under the strike settlement plan agreed to by the miners, the commission has power to fix wages and working conditions in the mines and price of coal to the public if its decision is unanimous. The return of the miners to work has been with the understanding that the commission is to have full powers to adjust scales if it finds further increase justified.

Relaxation of export restrictions was announced by Director General Hines in the following statement:

"In the two weeks which have passed since the bituminous coal miners returned to work generally production has increased regularly."

"After careful consideration of the entire situation, it has been deemed advisable to permit restricted resumption of overseas export movement of bituminous coal."

"During the past two weeks, while production has been on the increase special provision has been made for the export of coal to Cuba necessary there for sugar production ultimately to be moved to this country. In addition a few other cargoes have been permitted by the central coal committee acting in conjunction with the representatives of the destination countries concerned in order to take care of vital necessities among our allies, and also of foreign consumers whose output was contracted to be shipped to the United States."

Discuss Their Attitude.
Chicago, Dec. 29.—Coal operators from Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Western Pennsylvania today discussed their attitude toward the commission named by President Wilson to investigate the coal situation and declared that they would assume no increase in miners' wages above the fourteen per cent granted in the strike settlement. If the president's new commission recommends a wage increase above the fourteen per cent the responsibility for increased prices to the consumer would rest with the commission.

Thomas F. Brewster of St. Louis, chairman of the Operators' State Committee presided with A. M. Ogle of Terre Haute, as secretary. Brewster distributed copies of a statement by Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, chairman of the senate sub-committee investigating the coal problem in which the senator severely arraigned the administration for sacrificing the public interest to the demands of the miners and criticized the makeup of the presidential coal commission.

FIVE SURVIVORS BATTLE FOR LIVES

BULLETIN

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Dec. 29.—Word reached St. Johns today of the rescue of the eighty persons, passengers and crew of the Reid Coastal Boat Dundee who were marooned on an island in Bon Vista Bay, following the wreck of the steamer on Christmas day.

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 29.—Five survivors of the crew of the Belgian steamer Anton Vandriel were battling desperately for life tonight on the wreck of their ship which was being pounded to pieces against the rocks which guard the entrance to St. Mary's Bay, New Foundland. Their only hope was that the wreck would hold together until a rescuing steamer from St. Johns was able to reach them.

All day long the fisher folk from the nearby village of St. Phots had watched the unequal struggle for life from the tops of the rugged cliffs which frowned down upon the wreck. They were powerless to aid but the fascination of the impending tragedy held the spectators on the storm swept cliff tops until darkness hid the wreck.

The Anton Vandriel laden with a cargo of coal for the Dutch government cleared from Sydney last Saturday under the command of Captain Turnwell. Six out of her crew were killed and her cargo was buried on St. Johns' ledges shortly after 1 o'clock this morning. Boats were immediately launched and promptly dashed to pieces against the cliffs by the mountainous waves.

This morning the five men were clinging desperately to the bridge of the doomed steamer. Wreckage and bodies were tossed about in the breakers at the foot of the cliffs.

The steamer ordered from St. Johns to attempt a rescue cannot reach the scene of the wreck before tomorrow morning. Rescuers received here late this afternoon from St. Johns said that there were only slender chances of the ship holding together thruout the night.

NO LONGER AMERICAN MINISTER TO DENMARK

Senate Fails to Confirm Nomination of Norman Haggood

Washington, Dec. 29.—Norman Haggood is no longer American minister to Denmark it was said today at the state department. Officials explained that the senate had failed to confirm his nomination before the end of the special session on November 19 and that since he was not given a recess appointment by President Wilson, his commission automatically expired on that date.

Mr. Haggood, who returned from Copenhagen several days ago was in conference today with Secretary Lansing, discussing the situation in Soviet Russia. It was said that the situation pictured by the former minister on the basis of information reaching him at Copenhagen did not differ materially from that described in dispatches reaching the department from other sources.

Officials would not discuss reported charges that Mr. Haggood had been sympathetic toward the soviet authorities while he was acting as American minister in the Danish capital.

Speaking of America's returned soldiers, the general declared they had come back with a greater understanding of their obligations to their country. LABOR CRITICIZES

Suggestions of Industrial Conference Not Favored

COMPER'S STATEMENT

President of American Federation of Labor Declares Commission Should Reconsider Question of Definite Recognition of Unions

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Suggestions of the president of industrial conference for the settlement of labor unrest drew fire today from organized labor in the first of the public discussion invited by the commission in its report published today. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor said the failure of the conference to recognize definitely the organizations of workers—trade unions—as the basis for representation was a fatal omission while Frank Morrison, secretary of the Federation, noting the absence of reference by the conference to collective bargaining or the necessity for organizations of workers said any one who would avert or postpone industrial conflicts could not ignore these principles.

Mr. Gompers said the commission should reconsider the question of definite recognition of trade unions, "in order to make possible the confidence and cooperation of wage earners which can be expressed only thru organizations of their own making."

Mr. Morrison said the declaration against government employees joining the American Federation of Labor would indicate that the commission has been affected by the temporary wave of anti-unionsism.

"The statement," he added, "offers no hope to lovers of industrial peace who see the necessity of abolishing autocracy in industry and giving employees a direct voice in their working conditions. It is no solution to empower the president and a cabinet official to select representatives of workers to adjust disputes. The workers must have this power themselves."

In the opening statement, continued Mr. Gompers, "the report sets forth the right relationship between employer and employee in large industries can be promoted by the deliberative organization of that relationship. But the report fails to give definite recognition to the application of this truth. Both employers and employees must be organized in order to become responsible parties to any system of mediation or arbitration."

"The failure of the conference to recognize definitely the organization of workers—trade unions—as the basis for representation is a fatal omission. Certainly the conference should reconsider this point in order to make possible the confidence and cooperation of wage earners which can be expressed only thru organizations of their own making."

In order to promote constructive and permanent changes that will eliminate causes of much industrial unrest, the conference should consider governmental agencies to provide the necessary information and assistance in securing continuous betterment of working conditions. That problem must ultimately be worked out by employers and employees, but the government should advise and assist."

STORY TO BE INVESTIGATED BY SENATE SUB-COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Reports alleged to have been circulated early this month in New York by the Mexican consulate there that "President Wilson or Secretary Lansing paid the necessary ball money to have the American consular agent, W. O. Jenkins released from the Puebla (Mexico) jail, will be investigated by the senate foreign relations sub-committee inquiring into Mexican affairs, it was announced tonight by Francis J. Kearfut, counsel for the sub-committee.

In connection with the alleged reports which Mr. Kearfut said had been called to the attention of Chairman Fall of the sub-committee by a correspondent in New York, it was announced that Rafael Nieto, sub-secretary of finance under President Carranza, and Emiliano Lopez Figueroa and Rafael Martinez Carrillo, Mexican attorneys in New York will be subpoenaed by the sub-committee. Nieto and Figueroa, the correspondent charged, concocted a story about New York and connecting Secretary Lansing and President Wilson with J. Salter Hansen, who furnished the ball for Jenkins' release from jail.

Secretary Lansing tonight declared the "whole story was absolutely ridiculous." The secretary in commenting on another alleged Mexican consulate report that he had conferred with Hansen before the latter left for Mexico said he did not know Hansen and had not heard of him until reports to the state department carried the information that it was he who had furnished Jenkins' bail.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—With six men in custody alleged ring leaders in a conspiracy to flood New York, New Jersey and New England with poisonous substitute for whiskey, federal, state and city authorities were united tonight in a vigorous pursuit of the purveyors of the poisonous beverages which have caused cases of blindness and illness. During the day four more deaths were recorded.

The two most important arrests made so far, according to the federal agents, were those of John Bonaventura, 35, a former saloonkeeper, Brooklyn, undertaker, and Samuel Saleeby, a Brooklyn druggist, who are accused of being the principals in the distribution of the poison thruout New England. SEEK SOLUTION OF CHILD PROBLEM

Herbert Hoover Addresses Child Welfare Luncheon in San Francisco

San Francisco, Dec. 29.—The whole problem of Americanization would be met in twenty years if the nation could systematically grapple with the child problem and insure proper conditions of birth, education and nutrition. Herbert Hoover told a child welfare luncheon gathering arranged by the association charities here today.

"We have amply demonstrated in this country that if this sort of thing is to be accomplished it must be developed out of the conscience of every separate community," Mr. Hoover said.

Of relief measures, Mr. Hoover said: "One feature of organization in these matters is outstanding—that the responsibility of organization has rested almost entirely upon the women. Those American men who had to do with this work can claim but little credit."

"I feel sometimes we are perhaps more concerned over the cases of mass misery of other nations than in the individual needs of our own. The appeal of mass suffering draws our sympathy to foster action than the scattered minority at home. We must respond to both. The welfare of the children of the nation is our joint responsibility. I believe that the attitude of a nation toward child welfare will soon become the test of civilization."

$100,000 FIRE IN ARMY CAMP

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Dec. 29.—Fire breaking out in the machine shop of Flight A, 96th Aero Squadron, this afternoon destroyed equipment estimated to be worth $100,000. All airplanes were saved. Airmen were prevented from fighting the flames by the explosion of 250 aerial bombs as well as gasoline and oil containers.

Chauffeur Anthony Jaroski and Private Emil Martin were seriously burned by the explosion of gasoline in the machine shop which started the fire. The living quarters of the men were destroyed.

The cause of the explosion was a mystery. Jaroski and Martin were working in the machine shop repairing a motorcycle shortly after 2 o'clock they rushed out of the door with their clothing in flames.

Members of the flight, led by their officers attempted to control the flames but without avail as the machine shop truck was "soaked with oil and went up in a flash. The flames spread to nearby living quarters and to a storehouse in which were 250 aerial bombs. Three aeroplanes which were near the shop were dragged to safety. All efforts to save any part of the equipment was abandoned.

As the explosives began to subside the city fire department answered a second call and was able to save one motor truck and to drag another partially destroyed truck to a safe place. Besides the machine shop truck and equipment valued at $30,000, there were burned 250 aerial bombs, each worth several hundred dollars, two motor trucks valued at $6,000 and $3,000 respectively, two Liberty motors valued at $7,000 each, extra propellers and miscellaneous equipment and 700 gallons of oil and gasoline as well as tentage and personal belongings of the guard.

DENY RECEIPT OF ANY COMMUNICATION

Protesting Against Settlement of Anti-Trust Proceedings

Washington, Dec. 29.—White House officials denied today that any communication protesting against the manner of settlement of the most packed anti-trust proceedings had been presented there as announced here last night by John Miller, a cattle raiser of Fort Stockton, Texas.

The statement of Miller that the compromise effected by Attorney General Palmer in prosecution of the packers was not satisfactory to the cattle growers, met with rebuttal from department of justice officials. Officials cited a telegram from W. W. Turney, president of the cattle raisers' association, "Workman and Beatrice Nelson, it is said, left Battle Creek last Saturday after inviting her room mate Miss Summitt, to accompany her to Toledo. Letter found in the girl's room indicated she had formerly lived in Flint and other letters from her grand mother in Kalamazoo urged her to return to that city."

According to Miss Summitt, the girl for whom a warrant was issued today was absent from Battle Creek from last Tuesday until Wednesday afternoon and upon her return displayed much interest in the news of Brown's death later becoming hysterical and fearful that her name might be connected with the case.

Miss Summitt and Herick Key, a taxi driver brought her yesterday for examination, were released tonight and returned to Battle Creek. Dolly Bennett detained in Sandusky, Ohio, Saturday was also released without further questioning.

Borrowed Uniform

The girl, whose name Miss Summitt gave to the officers at Battle Creek for Mount Clemens, after borrowing a uniform from a soldier stationed at Camp Custer, she returned to Battle Creek Wednesday afternoon. Miss Summitt declared, with a large sum of money and attire in her and expensive clothing. Late when informed of Brown's death by Miss Summitt, the statement says, the girl displayed unusual interest and inquired if her name was mentioned by the news report.

Department of justice officials have telegraphed for information as to the number of cattle producers represented by Miller. The Pan Handle Cattle Association which Miller claims to represent, officials said, had not been active in the recent attacks of cattle organizations on the five large packing corporations.

ATTEMPT TO DISRUPT MILITIA COMPANY

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—An alleged attempt of radical leaders of the stock yards labor council, a stock yards workers union, to disrupt a company of the third Illinois reserve militia by intimidation of its members was under investigation today by army, state and police officials. A formal complaint charging that radicals had threatened him and that as a result of their activities his company had been reduced from 65 men to 25 in a month was made to the commander of the regiment by Captain John Wrobel, of the 52nd company, it became known.

The complaint was forwarded to Adjutant General Dickson of Illinois, who ordered an investigation.

TAKES NEW ANGLE

Further Clues Discovered In J. Stanley Brown Case

SEEK MICHIGAN WOMAN

Warrant Issued For Beatrice Vester, Following Statement By Roomate Implicating Her—Dolly Bennett Released

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Dec. 29.—A warrant for the arrest of Beatrice Vester on the charge of murdering J. Stanley Brown, son of a wealthy Detroit manufacturer, issued by Macomb county authorities today as a result of information implicating the woman given them by Miss Gladys Summitt of Battle Creek, Mich. In requesting police of many cities to search for the Vester woman, the officers also sent a call for the arrest of a man who they say may also have been connected with the killing of Brown. Checking up the story told to them by Gladys Summitt implicating the Vester woman, officers declared it improbable that the woman alone could have committed the alleged crime. The man's name and information connecting him with the case were withheld here but the police thruout the country have been asked to locate the two suspects.

Beatrice Vester, also known as Beatrice Workman and Beatrice Nelson, it is said, left Battle Creek last Saturday after inviting her room mate Miss Summitt, to accompany her to Toledo. Letter found in the girl's room indicated she had formerly lived in Flint and other letters from her grand mother in Kalamazoo urged her to return to that city.

According to Miss Summitt, the girl for whom a warrant was issued today was absent from Battle Creek from last Tuesday until Wednesday afternoon and upon her return displayed much interest in the news of Brown's death later becoming hysterical and fearful that her name might be connected with the case.

Miss Summitt and Herick Key, a taxi driver brought her yesterday for examination, were released tonight and returned to Battle Creek. Dolly Bennett detained in Sandusky, Ohio, Saturday was also released without further questioning.

Borrowed Uniform

The girl, whose name Miss Summitt gave to the officers at Battle Creek for Mount Clemens, after borrowing a uniform from a soldier stationed at Camp Custer, she returned to Battle Creek Wednesday afternoon. Miss Summitt declared, with a large sum of money and attire in her and expensive clothing. Late when informed of Brown's death by Miss Summitt, the statement says, the girl displayed unusual interest and inquired if her name was mentioned by the news report.

Alan Straight, chief of police, declared the statement of a fact that the latter had passed Brown's automobile late Tuesday night and some distance down road had passed a figure dressed in a man's clothing, but he did not walk or look like a man. This peculiarly the farmer's statement attracted a second look at the pedestrian. Miss Summitt's statement that a uniform had been borrowed from a Camp Custer soldier, Chief Straight declared was corroborated by the fact that the soldier called at the young woman's rooming house during the officer's investigation there. Straight said he believed the soldier was not in any other way connected with the case.

Miss Summitt's statement said the young woman asked her to join her on a visit to Mount Clemens where she said she had an engagement with the slain man.

"I'll get Brown's money as long as I have to kill him," the statement quotes the girl as saying.

Our silver dollar now has about the same purchasing power as the Mexican dollar of 1910.

It has been said that public office confers dignity on the holders, but instead of "dignity" it should read duty.

Under government regulation the railroad deficit for the past two years is $646,000,000, a fine

Now it is said that William J. Bryan will be the chief speaker before the Jackson day dinner January 8 which has been arranged by the democratic national committee. That is, he is expected to be the chief speaker provided the President is unable to be at the dinner and it is supposed that the President will not be able to attend. Anxious to press into the leadership of his party once more, Mr. Bryan, who realizes the tremendous opposition to the Wilson regime both within and without the party, will seek to be a large factor in democratic affairs.

BERGER'S VICTORY

There is no probability that Victor Berger, recently refused permission to membership in the House of Representatives, and lately reelected in the Milwaukee district, will be permitted to take his seat on the new credentials which he has won. There is every indication that the House will take prompt action in asserting itself upon this matter, and that a resolution declaring the seat vacant will be presented and voted upon at an early date. Chairman Dallinger, of the House committee which made the original inquiry into Mr. Berger's utterances against the United States and found him not entitled to a seat in Congress, has taken the position that the House should merely reaffirm its former action.

A GRAND RECORD

In the year about to end farm crops in the United States exceeded in value $14,000,000,000, a total never reached before in government reports. It goes beyond any former record by $1,500,000,000. Vast quantities of food have been raised in the country in 1919, and the prospect that it will be increased in 1920 is good. The rest of the world, if it sets about it peacefully, patiently and intelligently, can do as well. The United States is far from being the most populous nation. It contains but a sixteenth of the earth's inhabitants. If all farmers had done as well as ours last year the total agricultural production on the globe in 1919 would have been $226,000,000,000, in which case it may be presumed nobody would be hungry.

In handling the sugar question, the National Administration has given another startling exhibition of incompetence. In either July or August, of this year, the Sugar Equalization Board and Mr. Hoover, informed President Wilson that the sugar crop of Cuba could be bought for 5-1-2 cents per pound, and, on account of the world's shortage of sugar, strongly recommended that it be purchased at that price. President Wilson, however, who was very busy at that time, attending to the affairs of other peoples, disregarded their advice. Instead, he took the advice of Professor Taussig and refused to act.

In commenting upon the President's action in refusing to buy at that time and price, Senator Pomerene, Democrat, recently declared on the floor of the Senate:

"I simply wanted to observe to the Senate, that this is an evidence again of the fact that adherence to the advice of a professional economist, is going to cost the people of the United States an advance of four cents a pound, for every pound of sugar that will be consumed during the ensuing year; and, as the per capita consumption is about 92 pounds, and the population of this country now is about 110,000,000, we can estimate how valuable this advice has been. It amounts to about $404,800,000."

PROVES NEED OF ENACTMENT

The Republican Publicity Association through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the following statement from its Washington Headquarters: "The Anti-strike clause of the Cummins railroad bill presents a very simple and clearly defined question—whether the public interest in transportation shall be protected or shall be constantly menaced by the possibility of interruption of service. It may be admitted, as claimed by labor union spokesmen, that there is slight danger of a general railroad tie-up for any considerable period of time. That there will not be such a suspension of railroad operation can not be asserted by the labor unions, however, in view of the definite threat made in 1916 that a general strike would be called at a certain hour on a specified day unless the demands of the employees should be met. The four brotherhoods demonstrated that a rail tie-up is a grave possibility from which the nation may suffer in loss of comfort, convenience, property, and life.

"The very fact that labor unions protest against enactment of the anti-strike provision is evidence enough that whenever it suits their pleasure, they will strike to enforce their demands. The protest of the unions against the provision should cause the rest of the people to insist upon its enactment for protection of their own rights and the welfare of the nation. Even though a strike may never be called, the possibility of a strike is a constant menace which every business man must consider in every undertaking and in every contract he may make. That uncertainty is one of the hazards of every business that depends upon transportation for its continuance.

"But aside from the purely commercial interest of the nation in unbroken railroad transportation, there is the fundamentally more important consideration that a strike is an unjust means of settling a dispute. In an enterprise so vitally important as transportation, a strike is nothing more or less than application of force. It is entirely within the truth to say that in 1916 the four brotherhoods held a pistol to the head of Congress and commanded enactment of desired legislation. More effective intimidation could not be devised than the threat to interrupt transportation of supplies, thus stopping all the wheels of industry and bringing suffering, starvation and death to inhabitants of cities.

"Force in the form of a strike is no more appropriate as a method of settling disputes than is force in the form of physical violence. The Cummins bill proposes a better remedy. It provides for establishment of committees on wage adjustments with authority to take testimony and adjudicate controversies, thus arriving at a fair judgment as between the employees and the public. Every railway wage controversy is in reality between the employees and the public, for in the final analysis the public pays the wage. The Cummins bill not only assures an equitable system of setting wage disputes, but expressly preserves the individual right to quit railroad employment for any cause, with the single reservation that there shall be no conspiracy to interfere with interstate commerce—a strike. Under the Cummins bill, every railroad employee would be at full liberty to cease his employment whenever he could secure better wages or more agreeable work elsewhere, or even if he desired to cease work entirely. The only purpose of the anti-strike provision is to impose upon railroad employees the same obligation that is imposed upon railroad owners—continuous transportation service. Whenever employees are given the right to strike to force payment of higher wages, it will be proper to give owners the right to suspend traffic to force payment of higher rates. One privilege is just as reasonable and just as absurd as the other."

Rippling Rhymes

Industry.

"By industry we thrive," our fathers used to say, all day they looked alive, and put up tons of hay. They went at work full tilt, and seldom paused to rest; and thus our fathers built the country we inhabit. "By eloquence we thrive," this is our watchword now; no longer do we strive to earn in sweat of brow. The country's bowed with care, the care that sears and carves, and we hand out hot air, and make a few remarks. The whistles do not foot to ed men their tasks, for all men elocute, on platforms, kegs and casks. The country's needing coal that children may not freeze, and gets a rignarole, a freeze, and a wheeze. The country's needing peace, and harmony and zeal, and it would have succumbed from fuss and frenzied spiel; but we like eight day clocks are to the limit wound, and every fellow talks, and rants and paws the ground. We all are Ciceros, we all have silver tongues, and haughtily we pose, and labor with our lungs. The sound of factory bell can only chafe and irk; we're binding with a spell, and haven't time to work. Together let us get, let all our rows be tinned; let's try to earn with sweat what we can't earn with wind.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE

Christmas Day the fine residence of Henry Aufdekamp, north of Chapin, was totally destroyed by fire. The flame was first seen by a neighbor boy who noticed fire right thru the chimney eating up thru the roof. He hastened there in his father's auto, but by the time he arrived the whole upper interior was on fire and all the family saved was a suit of clothes. The flames were evidently due to a defective flue. It was a fine, pine room house and newly built. Mr. Aufdekamp had $1,500 insurance which will come a good way from paying the loss.

He has been unfortunate in the way of fires having lost a fine barn in October, 1918.

A COMMUNITY LOSS

Passing of Miss Phillips.

Miss Hattie K. Phillips entered the Higher Life on Christmas Eve, a fit time for one such as she was to begin the longer existence, to "enter into the joys of her Lord."

Miss Phillips was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips of Cincinnati, Ohio, her birthplace. The father was a lawyer and prominent in the "Queen City of the West." Her mother was of Pennsylvania ancestry, and from Revolutionary blood. A cousin of Mrs. Phillips was a major general in the Union army, and had the honor of occupying Richmond after Grant had brought the Confederacy to an end.

Mrs. Phillips and her daughter came to this city to make their home some twenty five years ago, after Mr. Phillips' death. They had a special reason for locating here, because of this city being the residence of Mrs. Phillips' sister, Mrs. William G. Gallaher, so long and highly known in Jacksonville and its neighborhood. Mrs. Phillips passed on some years ago and Mrs. Hattie retained their home at the corner of Grove and Diamond streets.

Miss Phillips became a member of the Westminster Presbyterian church on coming here and it was her delight to serve it in every way she could. She was active in the Home and Foreign Missionary Societies of the organization, serving as president of the former and treasurer of the latter for years. She was also prominent in the Aid Society and in the Guild and one of the most satisfactory Sabbath School teachers. With her the question was only, "what can I do?"

But Miss Phillips had another and wider relation to the good works of our city in her connection for years with the Free Kindergarten, of which she was long the treasurer, and, somehow, under her care there would be funds in hand at the most needful and unexpected times. A self-supporting treasurer is seldom to be found as all in charitable work very well are aware.

This young woman, who never became old, made life a boon to others, regardless of what it cost her, within her power to furnish of ability, time, strength or money.

Miss Phillips had enjoyed the better opportunities of education and advantages of travel, which enabled her to shine in quiet beauty in society and church and club life, and all the various interests in which modern women are engaged.

She was so fine in her attractiveness that it is difficult to select her chief characteristic of goodness—unless it be that one devotion to the service of her Master, the Lord of Life and Glory.

The Master came on that long ago Christmas and He has prepared a place for such followers as Hattie K. Phillips to enter into.

And so we bid her farewell, with gladness that she has gone to "That far away Home of the Soul."

Lalley Light and Power

Takes the Place of Man-Power on the Farm

Lalley Light is a complete unit—engine and generator—with 16-cell storage battery. It supplies ample electricity for light, water pump, washing machines, tanning mill, etc.

Lalley Light labor-saving is so positive, that owner after owner figures that the electric power really takes the place of farm help.

And they are right. It does enable the same help to do more; or less help to do the same work.

For example, Alfred Olson, Fullerton, Neb., writes that he and his wife take care of 320 acres, nearly all farm land, and keep 80 head of cattle and 125 hogs.

"If it were not for Lalley Light and electric power," says Mr. Olson, "we would have to keep a hired man."

"If every farm home and outbuilding were equipped with electric light and power there would be a great saving of time and labor and less fire trouble." Louis Rolfe, Seattle, Wash., finds that Lalley actually saves man power in its various scopes of usefulness.

"With the present scarcity of labor," writes Theo. Schierbaum, Wentzville, Mo., "we could not possibly get along without the Lalley. We figure that it actually saves about half of one person's time."

What Lalley Light will save for one farmer, it will save for any farmer who makes full use of its electric light and power.

Hutson Bros. Auto Co. Receive Third Shipment—State Early Rise in Prices Expected.

The Maxwell "Post War" car is winning instant favor wherever introduced, one of its strongest points being that it holds every friend made. Three weeks ago Hutson Bros. Auto Co., South Sandy street, accepted the agency for the Maxwell car in this territory, and Monday received their third shipment. The "Post War" model is one of the daintiest, smoothest running cars yet brought out, luxurious, easy riding, conveniently operated and surprisingly low on upkeep.

In common with all cars a raise in price is expected. Gay Hutson, manager of the firm, stated Monday night that he would continue to sell at the old price until ordered by headquarters to stop. Persons contemplating the purchase of a fine, light, practical car will do well to get a demonstration of the "Post War" model and place an order before the raise.

Hutson Brothers also have the agency for the Chalmers and the Curtiss Airplane, expecting to have a demonstrating plane here early in the spring.

SPEAKS OF CONDITIONS IN THE NORTHWEST

Speaker at Congregational Church Community Forum Enjoyed by Large Audience Sunday Evening.

A large and well pleased audience at the Congregational church listened Sunday evening to Chaplain Paul Reynolds as he told about the lumber camps and the I. W. W.'s of the great northwest. Incidentally the gentleman mentioned that he was a classmate of Rev. W. E. Collins and were that gentleman absent he might say some very pleasant things about him. Of his fine address a short outline is given:

Early in the war the great part to be played by the air service became apparent and the one crying need of the manufacturers was proper lumber which was spruce. That wood is light, fibrous, tough. One can take hold of a silver and draw it along the whole length of the board. The great source of supply of this valuable wood was found in Oregon and Washington and the cry from France and at home was "Spruce; more spruce." The call was for five to ten million board feet a month and so to the great northwest was sent a body of volunteers who were sorely disappointed as they greatly preferred overseas service. They were loyal however and went at their country's call and worked heroically.

Every State Represented
Any man who had any experience in forestry was picked up and sent to Vancouver and from that point assigned to the various camps of localities as deemed best. Almost every state in the union was represented. In a Bible class of twenty four one day I had four different states represented. All titles, ranks and conditions were leveled. One man whose income was at home $100 a day gave his pay to the Red Cross. He had a friend who was inclined to be snobbish and one day before the war he was lecturing him on the subject and reminded him that he might have to come down some day and the man replied he at least would never work on a section at $2.20 a day. Both were in the northern region

In the service and both one day were working together at very menial tasks when the $100 a day man returned the other that he was doing worse than section work for a dollar a day, but neither complained; it was for their country.

A great many men had expressed such an eagerness to get overseas that the promise was given them that they should start the first of December when the signing of the armistice dispelled their hopes and they didn't celebrate Nov. 11.

The work was also hindered by slackers, who had sought service in the camps, where they would be less dangerous than overseas and they were little good. The spruce trees were scattered and hard to secure at times and the logs were assembled at great cost. Then came the plan of building railroads into the forests and loops from the main line and this involved blasting rock, bridging chasms and opening tunnels. Capable engineers estimated it would take eighteen months to accomplish it and it was done in four and a half.

Specially Designed Mills.
It was especially important that the lumber should be cut with the grain and not across it in any way but the mill owners insisted they couldn't do it so especially designed mills were constructed which did do the work with cranes and turn tables greatly increasing the output. As is well known, our forces were not properly equipped with either artillery or airplanes and the pressure was ever on us to hurry up the spruce wood.

Then came the trouble of properly drying the boards. Air drying would take almost a year which was out of the question; kiln dry only affected the surface, so it was decided to inclose the lumber in a tight place and inject hot, dry steam which caused it to dry from inside outward and be ready in fourteen to eighteen days.

The labor condition was the crux of the whole business. In the first place lumber camps are remote from cities and subject to no good or steady influences. The men are transitory, moving about from one place to another as fancy dictates, and generally not steady and reliable. On the other hand, while some companies were fair, far too great a part of the companies simply figured to get all they could out of the men for as little as possible. Conditions about the camps were dreadful and the wonder is that more men didn't sick and die. For years the men have been trying in vain to get a square deal and when the I. W. W.'s appeared they found willing listeners. Men struck while at work; that is, they would go thru the motions and do little or nothing and if an honest man objected he was persecuted. One man boasted they never got him but his machine was always out of order.

Disk Changes Conditions
This was the condition in 1917 when Gen. Disk appeared on the scene. He first called the operators before him and told them the war was to be won; that they must treat the men right, clean the camps, pay fair wages for eight hours and, in short, give the men a square deal. Then he called the men before him and told them that the great war was on and must be won and they had a great part in it and must stand up like men and on the other hand they should be treated right. Twelve units were formed with officials at the head of each who would hear all complaints and when they couldn't settle a matter bring it to the general. They organized the Loyal Loggers and Lumbermen's Legion and increased their output of spruce to ten, twenty and even thirty millions a month and one day in Sept. 1918 they turned out a million and a half feet.

Speaks of Conditions
The I. W. W.'s wanted to destroy everything lawful and take all to themselves. They were generally criminals and jailbirds and a pestiferous lot. One evening a captain was at a camp trying to organize a branch of the Legion but made no headway till he observed a man in the rear undoing all he did. Going to the fellow he remonstrated with him whereupon the man told him he would trash him if it were not for that uniform. Instantly the captain drew his coat and vest and said, "Come outside." The fellow weakened at once amid the jeers of the company who hated a coward. The captain, at a guess said, "I have got the goods on you and you better look out." Shortly after the fellow committed suicide and it turned out he was a fugitive from justice and supposed the captain knew his secret.

The rains up there were heavy and frequent and one man remarked when he got out of the service he would go down into Arizona and spend a few months getting dry. America saved the liberties of the world and sounded the death knell of autocracy. It was hard to serve up there in mud, rain, cold, and all sorts of discomforts but we were generally well fed and cared for. Immense good was caused by the L. L. L. and I think its beneficent effects will continue.

Enjoy Cold Days in a Maxwell

The "Post War" Car

Jump into a Maxwell, bundle up, and in a second or two you're off.

No stone cold engine, no getting out to crank.

A few revolutions of the engine and it is running with midsummer action.

You get over ground quickly, get to your destination faster than in a bigger car.

This cold weather efficiency in a Maxwell is traceable to the Hot Spot and Ramshorn which warm up, "break up" gas into a fine vapor.

The moment this reaches the cylinders it is converted into full power and you avoid the troublesome experience of "trying to get a car warmed up on a cold day."

This high efficiency and the fine quality of steels used in its construction have made for Maxwell friends by thousands—to date more than 300,000 of them. 100,000 Maxwells are being built this year; which will supply but 60 per cent of the demand.

ANOTHER GENERAL SETBACK IN STOCKS

New York, Dec. 29.—With call money jumping from 12 to 25 per cent and back to 15 per cent and $ to $1.2 per cent bid for short time loans, the stock market today experienced another general setback in which many recent gains were wholly relinquish. The stiffer money tendencies occasioned little surprise, despite last Saturday's favorable bank statement.

In conservative financial circles it was freely predicted that the early weeks of the New Year would witness further advances in interest and discount rates with attendant stiffening of quotations for commercial paper.

Other developments which gave momentum to the day's extreme declines of two to six points included the publication of numerous unfavorable statements of railroad earnings for November and further unstable conditions in foreign exchange. The Bank of England weekly statement revealed a heavy decrease in liability reserves and the American dollar went to a higher premium in Paris.

ALD. FLYNN WANTS ACTION ON SEWERS

First Ward Alderman Says That Condition of Brook Sewer is Deplorable—Wants Immediate Steps Taken to Build Trunk Sewer—Discusses Name of New Reservoir.

Alderman Flynn at the regular meeting of the city council Monday evening called attention to the deplorable condition of the Brook sewer. The alderman said the sewer was completely stopped at the Chicago & Alton right of way and that unless some steps were taken, it would greatly endanger the health of residents in that vicinity.

The alderman also brought up the matter of giving a name to the new reservoir. He suggested that it be named Chapin lake in honor of Alderman Chapin, who had a large part in its building. This brought on a great deal of discussion, but no action was taken. There were a number of minor matters given attention.

Alderman Moore Mayor Pro Tem. When the clerk called the roll except Alderman Chapin and Elmie. Mayor Crabtree being absent, Alderman Moore was chosen mayor pro tem.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved. A petition was presented from John Cherry, asking permission to construct a gasoline tank in front of his garage in North Main street. The petition was referred to the highway committee and public engineer on motion of Alderman McGinnis, seconded by Alderman Flynn.

The clerk read a resolution providing for the transfer of money from the bond interest fund, to the sinking fund to take up water works extension bonds. The resolution was adopted.

Alderman Williamson, chairman of the highway committee believed that some steps should be taken toward building the pavements for which ordinances had already been passed. The alderman moved that the city attorney take the necessary steps to get the ordinances thru court. Alderman Flynn seconded and the motion carried.

Ald. Flynn Says Sewers are Bad. Alderman Flynn, chairman of the sewer committee reported that the Brook sewer under the Chicago & Alton right of way was stopped. The officials of the road had notified them not to do any work on the right of way until an engineer from the company arrived which would be Tuesday morning.

Speaking further of the sewer situation the alderman said: "Some steps should be taken immediately to relieve conditions which are deplorable. The Brook sewer is nearly full of tar from the gas plant and sewer gas can be detected a block from the sewer. This is a menace to the public health and should be remedied."

The alderman was of the opinion that the council as a whole should take some steps toward building a trunk sewer as this was the only remedy. Alderman Flynn said that the special committee needed to be punched up a little as the people were demanding some action toward relieving conditions.

Alderman Elmie came in at this time and took his place in the council.

Alderman Moore reported that a number of walnut trees in the two cemeteries had caused a great deal of trouble. Boys would go into the cemeteries and hull the nuts on tombstones, doing much damage. He reported that the

J. H. HACKETT DIES MONDAY MORNING

Passes Away at South Main Street Residence—Had Been in Failing Health for Several Years.

At 3:35 o'clock Monday morning James H. Hackett quietly breathed his last at his residence on South Main street. He had been in failing health for several years, more especially the past year and during the last few weeks his decline was rapid.

Mr. Hackett was born in Orange county, Vermont, March 30, 1841, and was the son of James and Hannah Richardson Hackett, all of sturdy New England stock, extending back to the Colonial times and he himself was a member of the Sons of the American Revolution. His grandfather, Daniel Hackett, was one of General Warren's men who fought the British in rifle pits on Bunker Hill and his father was a member of the Patriarch force who received from Gen. Putnam the famous order to hold their fire till they could see the whites of the enemy's eyes. He was in the company of Capt. Samuel McConnell and Col. Daniel Moore's command.

Mr. Hackett enjoyed the benefit of the public schools of his vicinity and later entered Canaan, New Hampshire Union Academy, and for some time was engaged in teaching, both in Vermont and New Hampshire. He then went to a position in the New Hampshire state penitentiary at Concord, the capital of the state and after that was for three years an official of the state hospital for the insane in the same place.

Dr. Andrew McFarland, then superintendent of the Jacksonville State Hospital, and a native of Concord, knew of the young man and asked him to take the place of clerk in the institution here which he did in 1863 and at the same time he did much in the business management of the institution.

He remained there but a few years when he opened a clothing store in the room now occupied by the Farmer's State Bank and Trust Co., and continued there doing a good business for eighteen years. For some years he was associated with the late Judge Edward Scott in the milling business, carrying on the old time Morgan mill north of the city on the banks of the creek under the firm name of Scott and Hackett; later L. W. Chambers was admitted to the firm and it was known as Scott, Hackett and Chambers.

He also paid much attention to farming and at one time had large holdings in the vicinity of Roodhouse. He was always active in promoting the interests of the city and was especially prominent in securing the location of the car shops here.

In the year 1900 he was appointed editor of The Farm, the agricultural paper, published on East Morgan street and continued to write capably for it till about a year ago.

Sept. 11, 1865 he was married to Miss Mary Bailey, daughter of the late James R. Bailey, at that time editor of the Sentinel, the predecessor of the Courier of this city. The two became acquainted while serving in official capacity in the Jacksonville hospital, the lady being matron there.

Mr. Hackett had a great interest in public affairs and was a staunch Republican and was at one time candidate on that ticket for state senator and for member of the state board of equalization. It was due to him and F. L. Sharpe of this city that this party had a candidate for member of the state supreme court in 1894. The district was so overwhelming Democratic that the Republicans hardly thought it worth while to maintain an organization but he and Mr. Sharpe were in Winchester and urged Mr. Grout, member of the state central committee, to strain his authority and call a convention at Jacksonville, which was done and Joseph N. Carter of Quincy was nominated and elected by a handsome majority.

Mr. Hackett was made a Mason in Blazing Star Lodge, New Hampshire, with others organized Jacksonville Lodge No. 570 and was its master for a year. He was also a member of Jacksonville Chapter Royal Arch Masons and Hospitalier Commandery Knights Templar and the oldest living member.

In 1869 he took the Mystic Shrine degree in Peoria and was a member of Jacksonville Lodge, No. 882, B. P. O. E. He was a member of State Street Presbyterian church and clerk for twenty years and was a life member of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

He is survived by four sons, James D. Hackett of New York City; George A. Hackett of Decatur; Charles H. and John S., both well and favorably known in this city, and one daughter, Mrs. W. A. Patterson of Denver, Colo.

He was a man of wide acquaintance and information; well versed in public affairs and kindly disposed toward all. He had a public spirit and was glad to work for the welfare of the community and the church to which he belonged.

The funeral will be conducted at the family residence, 1404 South Main street, and interment will be in Diamond Grove cemetery.
